Request Service- Save Money

Producers who plan to participate in the 1970 voluntary wheat, feed grain, or cotton programs may save money by requesting measurement service from their county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service Office according to J. P. Alvis, Jr., chairman of the Appomattox County ASC Committee.

He urged farmers to put in their requests for measurement service as soon as possible in order to be assured of early service.

The ASCS office makes a charge for the measurement service sufficient to cover cost of the field and office work. "In proportion to the possible savings to the farmers, the modest charge is well worth it," said Mr. Alvis.

Under the voluntary programs, a farmer certifies the acreage he has planted in wheat, feed grain, and cotton. Failure to certify to the exact acreage devoted to each crop and land use can result in substantial reductions in payments otherwise earned under the farm programs.

However, if the acreage has been staked by an ASCS reporter prior to planting or prior to the certification date, the farmer has assurance he will be able to make precise certification.

If his acreage is staked before planting, he need only stay within the staked areas to assure compliance with the programs, if his acreage is measured after planting and before certification, he still will have time to make changes to comply fully with the programs.

The ASCS measurement service provides for staking both the land to be planted to the program crops and the land which is to be diverted from crop production.

"Guessing about acreage can cost the farmer money either through overplanting or underplanting," Mr. Alvis said. "Acreage measurement takes the guessing out."

He pointed out that after a producer has certified his crop acres and his diverted acres he cannot make changes in order to comply with program provisions. If a spot check reveals an error, a penalty must be assessed. Spot checks are made each year on a substantial number of farms participating in the voluntary programs.

Measurement service should be requested at the County ASCS Office. Complete details about the service and the charge for it plus full information about farm program compliance provisions are available.

The Pastor Speaks

Notice with me in the conclusion of this series of messages that Christ's birth was "undeserved" by us, but may we say with the song writer, "Jesus is the sweetest name I know and He's just the same as His lovely name and that's the reason why I love Him so, Oh, Jesus is the sweetest name I know. There have been names that I have loved so dear but never has there been a name so dear to this heart of mine as the name Devine, the precious, precious name of Jesus." To the educator He is the great teacher (John 3:2). To the farmer He is the sower and Lord of the harvest (Luke 10:2). To the artist He is the altogether lovely one (Song of Solomon 5:16). To the architect He is the Chief corner stone (1 Peter 2:6). To the builder He is the sure foundation (Isaiah 28:16). To the carpenter He is the door (John 10:7). To the banker He is the hidden treasure (Matthew 13: 44). To the engineer He is the new and living way (Hebrews 10:20). To the doctor He is the great physician (Jeremiah 8: 22). To the baker He is the bread of life (John 6:35). To the astronomer He is the Sun of righteousness (Malachi 4:2). To the florist He is the Rose of Sharon (Song of Solomon 2: 1). To the geologist He is the Rock of Ages (I Cor. 10:4). To the horticulturist He is the true vine (John 15:1). To the judge He is the only righteous judge of man (II Timothy 4:8). To the juror He is the faithful and true witness (Revelation 3: 14) To the lawyer He is the Counselor, law giver and true advocate (Isaiah 9:6). To the newspaper man He is the tidings of great joy (Luke 2:10). To the oculist He is the light of the eyes (Proverbs 29:13). To the philanthropist He is the unspeakable gift (II Cor. 9:15). To the preacher He is the Word of God (Rev. 19:13). To the sculptor He is the living stone. (I Peter 2:4). To the servant He is the good master (Matt. 23:8-10). To the Statesman He is the desire of all nations (Haggai 2:7). To the student He is the Incarnate Truth (I John 5:6). To the Theologian He is the author and finisher of our faith (Hebrews 12:2). To the toiler He is the giver of rest (Matt. 11:28). To the sinner He is the Lamb of God that taketh away the sin of the world (John 1:29). To the Christian He is the Son of the living God, the Saviour, the Redeemer, and the loving God. Yes, "Jesus is the sweetest name I know and He's just the same as His lovely name, and that's the reason why I love Him so. Oh Jesus is the sweetest name I know."

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

WHOSE CUP OF TEA?

Lesson for December 28, 1969

Background Scripture: Malachi 3:1-4; Matthew 3:1-12; 11:7-10.

Devotional Reading: Psalms 95: 1-7.

The Pulpit Committee of First Church was looking for a new pastor. Not just any minister would do. After all, First Church was the largest and most influential church in the area. It had a fine tradition that boasted of eminent pulpit orators. Crowds were drawn to First Church on the reputations of its preachers.

That is what had interested them in John B. Someone had told Ben Adams, the Pulpit Committee Chairman, that they had heard a certain young preacher was "packing-them-in" in one of the nearby rural communities. Ordinarily, the Committee would not have been interested in a country preacher. But the crowds he was reported to be drawing might very well be an indication that this John B. was ready for the "big-time" (meaning First Church)!

The Way He Dressed

So the Committee made some discrete inquiries and on Sunday morning drove to the place where John B. was reported to be preaching. When they arrived there, the members of the Committee were astonished to find not a country church, but an old picnic ground. Obviously this man was not from one of the recognized denominations. Either that or this outdoor preaching was simply a cheap stunt.

The place was crowded and it was not easy to work their way forward to the old bandstand on which the minister was standing. As they drew closer, Ben Adams gave a derisive snort: "Will you look at the way he's dressed! We could never have a man like that in our pulpit." The "like that" referred to the preacher's wiry black beard, his long, uncombed hair, and a strange robe that was apparently made from animal skins.

Having seen this was enough for Ben Adams and his committee. They would have left right then, if it hadn't been difficult to push back through the crowd. Since they had little choice, they decided to stay and endure it to the end. After all, the man was rather humorous-looking. The experience would be good for some laughs at least. Some of them began to smirk.

Indelicate Language

As they listened to him, however, their smirks froze on their faces. His message was downright insulting. "Repent," he challenged them, "for the kingdom of heaven is at hand." Didn't he realize that the crowd was mostly made up of good church people? Why should respectable people like that be told to repent? Who was he to sit in judgment of them? Apparently he was another one of these professional troublemakers!

Suddenly, looking directly at the men of the Pulpit Committee, John shouted, "You bunch of snakes! Who warned you to try to escape God's wrath? Conduct yourself as repentent men and don't rely on your church membership to get you through. I'm warning you that God's judgment is going to hit you hard!" Just as suddenly he turned away and stepped down into the water to baptise some people who were waiting for him. Ben Adam and the men of First Church were too embarassed and angry to utter a word.

"Some Kind of a Nut!"

As soon as it was possible, the red-faced men beat a hasty retreat. They wanted nothing further to do with this preacher. They were appalled by his appearance — "Looked like a Communist," confided one of them. They liked his words even less. "Repent!" That was no message for the people of First Church. Worst of all, however, was his personal attack upon them! How dared he!

He was obviously "some kind of a nut," they decided, a crazy man making crazy promises and charges, a religious fanatic. John the Baptist was just not their "cup of tea."

But then, neither was Jesus! (Based on outlines copyrighted by the Division of Christian Education, National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.A. Released by Community Press Service.)

SEASON'S GREETINGS!!

A greeting to my host of friends and relatives and especially my former pupils and school associates.

To those we love and see all year,
To those with whom we're somehow out of touch
To all good friends whose friendship Means so much.

Whatever else is lost with the years-
Whatever else changes, Christmas remains-
A time of happy recollections,
A time for remembering treasured friends.

May the New Year be PEACEFUL and glad,
The very best you've ever had!
Remember, this wish is not for Christmas and New Years merely,
But meant to be enjoyed by you and yours DAILY, MONTHLY AND YEARLY!

Sincerely
Flora Belle Williams

Party Honors Cuban Family

A gala Christmas party given for a Cuban family by the Spanish Club of Appomattox High at the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Mathews prompted this letter to the editor.

Dear Mr. Vaughan;

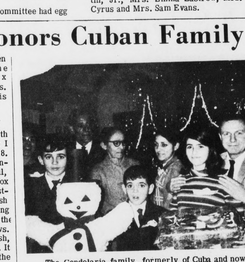
I would like to share with your readers an experience I had on Thursday night, Dec. 18. I was lucky enough to be invited by Mr. James Hall, Spanish teacher at Appomattox High School, to attend a Christmas party given by the Spanish Club for a Cuban family living in the Pamplin Community at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Mathews.

Since I can not speak Spanish, I did quite a bit of observing. It did my heart good to see the sincere desire to help this refugee family showing by our young people. Often we lose sight of the good in our young girls and boys or just fail to give them credit for their good deeds.

Each student came in with a big smile and even bigger container of food, and the fellowship shared by all was tremendous.

So I would like to give three cheers for this fine group of young people and to Mr. Hall, their teacher, who shows such a great interest in each one. Also, thanks to the Mathews family for sharing their home with us on this heart warming occasion.

Sincerely yours,
Mrs. Steve Bowling



The Candelaria family, formerly of Cuba and now living in Pamplin, stand by a big Christmas tree with James Hall (right) Spanish instructor at Appomattox High. The Candelarias were guests of honor at the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Mathews Thursday evening, Dec. 18 in a party given by the Spanish Club. Holding the snowman (left) is Omar standing with Yoel, with Magaly holding the large package. Behind them: Dora, Mr. Canelaria, Mrs. Candelaria and Carmen.

Yule Music Blends Joy, Reverence

Across the centuries, man has looked to music to express his happy feelings at Christmas time.

From the medieval "Hayl, Mary, ful of grace" and "Mervele nought, Josep" to the modern "White Christmas" and "Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer," songs have been a favorite part of Christmas celebrations.

In the tradition of Christmas music, there are simple carols, blending reverent wonder with quiet joy — Martin Luther's "Away in a Manger," for instance, or the mid-nineteenth century hymns, "It Came upon a Midnight Clear," "We Three Kings of Orient Are" and "O Little Town of Bethlehem."

There are merry songs, celebrating the jolly mood of the Yuletide, such as the time-honored "Deck the Halls," or the modern "Rudolph" and "Frosty the Snowman."
